SENIORS' HEALTH AND WELLNESS FORUM RETURNS!

On Saturday, November 3, the Seniors' Health and Wellness Forum is returning to the Central Lions Seniors Recreation Centre. For this event, Sage partners with Age Friendly Edmonton and other key community stakeholders to offer presentations and panel discussions on health, wellness, and social supports vital to healthy aging.

This free event, which is open to the public, provides an opportunity to showcase a holistic and proactive approach to healthy aging.

The event features organizations and businesses providing information and resources at exhibitor-style booths, as well as informative sessions on a variety of health and wellness topics. All sessions at the Forum will be closed captioned to ensure they are accessible, and participants will also enjoy a free lunch, coffee and tea, and door prizes.

There is no charge to attend the Seniors' Health and Wellness Forum, however registration for general attendance numbers is encouraged.

Registration opens October 1. Please call 780-809-8604 to register.

MESSAGE FROM THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

Karen McDonald

This edition of the Link Newsletter highlights how our staff and volunteers have been working collaboratively with a variety of organizations to offer services and programs for seniors in the community.

For example, the Seniors' Housing Forum and the Seniors' Health and Wellness Forum are two well-attended and much anticipated free events that take place every fall. While Sage takes a lead in coordinating the events and managing the many details that are required to host an event for 900+ people, the planning and topics for the presentations are coordinated by two planning committees. These committees are comprised of organizations that serve older adults in a variety of ways and they each bring unique insights and knowledge to the planning process.

This collaborative approach to event planning is a key reason that these events have been so well-received by the community for many, many years.

Thank you to our partners for their dedication to this important work!

This edition of the Link also highlights the support of our sponsors and supporters for the annual Sage Awards. These organizations share Sage's commitment to honouring and celebrating the contributions that seniors make to our communities every day. The Awards help to diminish negative stereotypes that many people hold about aging and seniors, while also raising funds through the support of our sponsors. The funds provided by our sponsors help to ensure that Sage is able to provide essential programs and services to seniors, caregivers and communities throughout the year.

Please join us in thanking and celebrating our many community partners!

STAFF ANNOUNCEMENTS

Congratulations to Theresa Goba (Program Lead) and Colleen Derksen (Social Work Manager) for their new positions at Sage!

We would also like to welcome Janet Askin as our new main floor Administrative Coordinator, Laine Wannechko, who is joining our Life Enrichment program, and Nurse Practitioner, Krista King.

MARGE LILLEY RETIRING

Just like a piano missing one of its keys, or a guitar missing one of the strings, our songs will never be the same again without her. After almost 30 years of dedicated volunteer service with Sage, Marge Lilley is retiring. Marge, who will be 95 years old in September, has been part of Sage since 1989 (then known as the Society for the Retired and Semi-Retired). Over the last 30 years, Marge has volunteered with Sage in a variety of roles, including:

- Secretary for Happy Travelers Group
- Secretary for Retirement Registry which became Home Services
- Member of the Nominating Committee for the Board of Directors
- Sage Singers Choir Director and pianist

The staff, Board of Directors, and volunteers of Sage would like to thank Marge Lilley for her years of dedicated service. We will miss you!

LIFE-LONG LEARNING VAL CHYMKO

“Live as if you were to die tomorrow. Learn as if you were to live forever”

- Mahatma Gandhi

As we age, it's important to remember that we're never too old to learn something new. Life-long learning is about keeping an open mind, embracing change, and nurturing curiosity and creativity.

Opportunities for learning at Sage started off shortly after its formation in 1970. Early on, the 'Tuesday Forums' became popular occasions to assemble for discussions on topics such as retirement living, current events, travel and health. With the move to the Baker Annex facility in 1979, the Society was able to offer classes requiring more space, such as ballroom and square dancing. Tai chi, yoga, and line dancing were introduced, and have all seen a revival here of late! These types of physical activities have proven to be of great benefit for physical and mental health, as well as cognitive stimulation through learning new movements and routines.

Learning a new language is also excellent for maintaining cognitive function. Over the years, the Society has offered classes in French, German, Spanish, and Cree. In 1995, English as a second language also became a valuable addition to Sage's life enrichment program.

Yoga class at Sage - May 1982

And without a doubt, the steepest learning curve we've encountered to date is the introduction of computer technology. An article in the January 1982 edition of our News for Seniors invited members to the “fascinating experience” of seeing a real computer and a demo of the educational opportunities it would be able to provide. (So much more can be said about how computers have changed the way we live and learn. A future edition of Sage Vignettes will be devoted entirely to the history of computer integration at the Society.)

These are just some of the ways that Sage has provided opportunities for life-long learning as it continues to serve seniors in the maintenance and improvement of their mental, physical and social well-being.

PARTNERSHIP PROFILE

On May 9, 2018, we hosted the 12th Annual Sage Awards, presented by Servus Credit Union, to celebrate the outstanding contributions and accomplishments of people after reaching the age of 60. The celebration showcased the invaluable contributions of seniors, highlighting how deeply they enrich our communities and lives. Among Award Recipients this year, local pastor, trailblazer, and community champion Reverend Rick Chapman received the first ever Sage Award for his outstanding contributions to Truth and Reconciliation in our province.

CTV has been a strong supporter of the Sage Awards since their inception, helping us to promote both the event and the amazing work of the Sage Award Recipients. For the past several years, Stacey Brotzel, one of the anchors on CTV Morning Live, has been the enthusiastic champion and charming host of the Awards - her quick wit and warm personality continue to ensure that the Awards are truly a celebration worthy of the Nominees and Recipients.

Did You Know?

Headquartered in Edmonton, CTV Television reaches over 1.2 million viewers across north central Alberta. In May 1957, CFRN-TV fed the first Alberta network program. The live network arrived via microwave in 1957 in time for the World Series Baseball game. On October 1 1961, CFRN-TV became an affiliate of the CTV Network. Network colour transmission started September 1966 and mobile colour television units became operational in 1975. The Noon Show of the 1950s-60s had Don Brinton, Ed Kay, Norris MacLean and George Kidd.

In 1954, Morning Magazine had Laura Lindsay and Virginia Macklin. In 1994, it became Day by Day with Terry Lynne Meyer, and was then hosted by Seanna Collins. Also in 1990, CFRN-TV established regional newscasts located in Grande Prairie, Fort McMurray and Red Deer. 1997 saw Baton Broadcasting and Electrohome merge. In 1999, Baton Broadcasting changed its corporate name to CTV Inc, and by 2000, BCE (Canada telephone giant) through its subsidiary BGM (BellGlobeMedia) purchased CTV Inc.

THANK YOU TO ALL OF THE SPONSORS OF THE 2018 SAGE AWARDS!

Your partnership and financial support of the annual Sage Awards helps us deliver programs and services to the many seniors in our community who are experiencing abuse, isolation, and poverty. We thank you!

9 QUICK SAFETY TIPS TO MANAGE YOUR MEDICATIONS

Johanna Trimble and Janet Currie
Canadian Deprescribing Network

Track your meds. It's up to you or your family to keep track of the drugs you are taking. Your medication list is unlikely to be available to all health professionals online!

Keep a list. For your safety, carry your own updated list and keep one on your fridge. Make sure to include over-the-counter drugs, as well as drugs prescribed by specialists.

Stick to one pharmacy. Try to fill prescriptions from one pharmacy so drug interactions are easily checked. Any pharmacy's list will only show what their pharmacy has dispensed to you and won't include everything you take.

Don't start a new drug when you're alone. It's rare, but if you have a severe allergic reaction you'll need immediate help. Never take a prescription drug that was prescribed to someone else.

Check your prescription. When you pick up your prescription order, check both your name and the drug name on the bottle. At times, people who have the same name have received the other person's drug.

Be aware of side effects and adverse effects. If you have a new symptom after taking a new drug, tell your doctor or pharmacist right away. It could be adverse effects from the drug itself or an interaction with another drug you already take.

Beware of the prescription cascade. Sometimes new drugs might be prescribed to deal with symptoms caused by a drug you are already taking. This is called the "prescription cascade" – a common example is being prescribed a new drug for stomach upset, which may be caused by a drug you are already taking. Ask your doctor to consider whether new symptoms could be the result of the drugs and whether you should consider stopping a medication or reducing the dose.

Look out for changes. Tell your doctor how new drugs affect you and whether there's been a change for better or worse. If you see something (or feel something), say something (just like at the airport!).

Seniors are more sensitive to medications. Due to age-related changes in liver and kidney function, drugs should sometimes be prescribed to seniors at a reduced dose. Adverse drug reactions can start even if you have been taking a drug for a long time. Your doctor depends on you to raise issues of concern.

HOME SUPPORTS

Winter is coming! Get referrals to reputable service providers who can do work around your home.

The Seniors Home Supports Program is a referral service that provides referrals to vetted service providers who offer snow removal, yard help, housekeeping, home repair and maintenance, personal services, and moving help.

Six seniors organizations across the city of Edmonton recruit, screen, and vet service providers to ensure they are reputable, and refer them to seniors requesting those services.

When you request a referral, you will be given a minimum of three options (if providers are available) to contact to discuss price and service options.
